The aim of this life drawing workshop is to address some of the basic challenges that arise in drawing the human figure. Day one will be mostly practicing how to approach this difficult subject, then day two you will be drawing with a model present.

Materials required: charcoal and pencils to draw with, rubber, large pieces of butcher's paper or sketching paper, bulldog clips, a solid backing board like cardboard or panelling if using an easel. Easels are supplied, but students may sit at a table if needed. Please bring a few of your own drawings.
